

2 (PARADE)

WASHINGTON POST
26 January 1986

■ WALTER SCOTT'S ■
Personality Parade

Q Why is it that whenever Herblock, the cartoonist for "The Washington Post," draws William Casey of the CIA, he draws the Central Intelligence director with a bag over his head?—R.L., Frederick, Md.

A Apparently Herblock does not consider Casey to be the most astute, keen, sharp-witted, perspicacious executive in the intelligence community.